

My website will be about Chinese food. There are two purposes of this website. First of all, it provides information for foreign tourists who are willing to travel to China and discover authentic local food. Secondly, it helps people to learn Mandarin. For all the name of dishes, there will be Chinese characters and pinyin aside as well.

On homepage, some history and background information of Chinese food will be introduced. Then if users want to find out about Chinese food, they can either choose "Dishes by ingredient" or "Dishes by region". If they choose "Dishes by ingredient", an embedded airtable will be shown by category, including grain-based dishes, pork-based dishes, poultry-based dishes, etc. If they choose "Dishes by region", an embedded airtable will be shown, presenting the dishes by region, and a map below shows the location of these dishes. Moreover, there is a section of some signature food recipes and video tutorials. For the last section, some Chinese food documentaries will be put for users know about Chinese food and culture.
